1. Learning to write in the English language is not simply a matter of knowing how to “write things down” in a new code. According to Rivers (1983), proficiency in writing “cannot be achieved by chance”. Drawn from the ideas of Rivers and Temperley (1978) and White (1971), there exist four main writing stages. Identify the four stages, and after the identification of each stage, describe the various skills involved at each stage. (25%)

2. Schema theory has been widely discussed. (25%)
  - (A) Define the term “schema” .
  - (B) Define “Schema Theory”.
  - (C) Describe the influence of culture differences on schema by giving an example.

3. Briefly explain the following terms. Limit your answer to no more than 50 words for each item.
